Fill-Out Form Example #2

This is another fill-out form example, with multiple text entry fields.

The first text entry field goes here:

The second text entry field goes here:

The third text entry field goes here:

To submit the query, press this button: .

Things you may want to note:

- Each text entry field is given a distinct NAME attribute.
- The query that results from this form looks like this: "?entry1=blah&entry2=blargh&entry3=blorf" (assuming "blah" had been typed into the first field, "blargh" into the second, and "blorf" into the third).
- If nothing is typed into any of the fields, the corresponding "name=value" pairs will still be present in the query, with the value simply absent. So, if you type "blah" into the first field and "blorf" into the third but nothing into the second, the query is "?entry1=blah&entry2=&entry3=blorf".
